A powerful core suite for P&C personal, commercial, workers compensation, specialty and new products such as parametric and on-demand empowering accelerated business growth and innovation.

Purpose Built. Future Ready.

Tremendous changes are on the horizon for insurance. While many insurers implemented modern core systems on-premise over the last two decades, the shift to next-generation core systems that embrace platform technologies including cloud, APIs, microservices, artificial intelligence or machine learning and ecosystems are crucial for insurers to compete in today's new digital era of insurance.

In this new landscape, replacing legacy core systems is the bare minimum. Next-generation core platforms not only replace legacy, but provide broader digital, data and functional capabilities with new technologies that enable innovation of new business models, products, channels, processes and more to meet fast changing customer expectations, needs and risk profiles with speed. To capitalize on this market shift, insurers need a next generation robust core platform that delivers speed to value, scales easily, and delivers seamless and frequent content and software upgrades that keep insurers on the leading edge and future ready.
