Modernize LA&H.
Skip the complexity.

One intelligent, cloud-native foundation helps insurers simplify operations, move faster, and make smarter decisions in the flow of work.

LA&H insurers are being asked to do more.

Growth, product complexity, regulatory change, and customer expectations are all rising. Here's what the market says is getting in the way.

46.4%
of insurers say inflexibility to adapt to market changes is the top limit of their core systems

Nearly half of brokers cite administrative complexity as a core challenge in adding supplemental health to benefit packages

48.6%
of life insurers surveyed say compliance with new regulations is their biggest system struggle

52%
of life insurers say outdated technology is a major obstacle to better customer experiences

Legacy systems slow innovation and add friction

54%
of insurers spend over half their IT budget just maintaining existing systems

Money tied up in keeping the lights on is money not spent on what's next

50%
of life, annuity and benefits insurers still run claims on legacy platforms

The result manual processing, higher error rates, and slower cycle times

Customers are ready to move on 40%

of employers would change insurers if their carrier can't connect products to their benefits technology platform

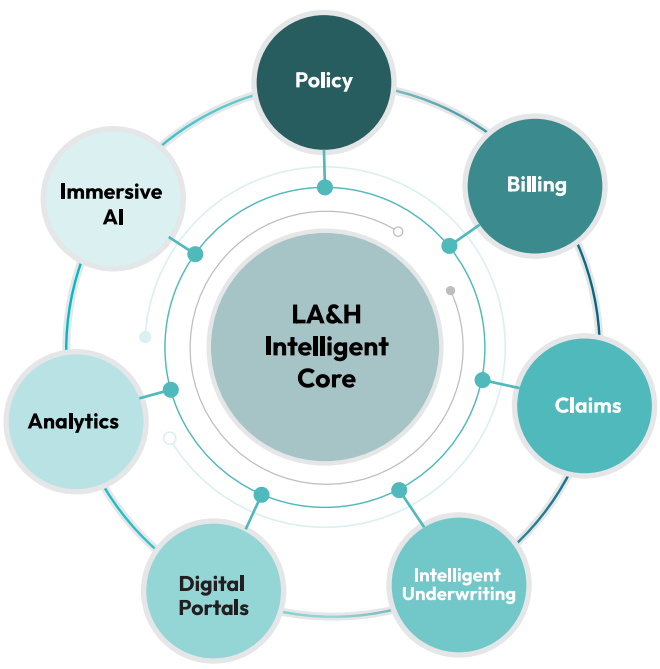

Connected systems aren't a nice to have. They're becoming a reason to win or lose business

Growth shouldn't require more complexity.
